FROM APEF

#IndustrialHeritage AND #BuildingPeace CONTINUE

Our online exhibitions #BuildingPeace and #IndustrialHeritage continue – you can look them up online by simply chasing our hashtags, or by visiting the APE Pinterest channel. Also, don't miss #SpaceHistory from the 19th of July, dedicated to the double anniversary of the first human-made object (1959) and the first man (1969) to land on the moon.

NEW FEATURED DOCUMENT

A new Featured Document dedicated to #BuildingPeace is available on our Portal, dedicated to peace treaties: the Historical Archives of Belgrade hold a copy of the Treaty of Versailles, of the Treaty of Saint-Germain, and of the Treaty of Neuilly, regulating respectively the conditions of Peace with Germany, with Austria, and with Bulgaria. Our Featured Document allows to read all the treaties here

KEYWORDS – FINDING THE RIGHT WORDS TO FIND THE RIGHT RECORDS

Leicester (UK), 12 September 2019

The 2019 Collections Trust conference revisits an important topic: Keywords – finding the right words to find the right records. If your users struggle to find things in your collections database, this event is for you. This one-day conference will be held at the beautiful

Victorian art gallery of Leicester's New Walk Museum, aimed at anyone who works with collections, terminology control, and why it matters. The Collections Trust conference always aims to give both the bigger picture and case studies from a range of museums. On the day before, there is an optional pre-conference visit to the award-winning King Richard III Visitor Centre, and also a suitably-themed pub quiz. Tickets and information available here

PAPER COUNTRIES – PAYS DE PAPIER

Charleroi (Belgium), until the 22nd September 2019

Running throughout the summer, this exhibition uncovers the history of travel photography books, amazing pieces of art and literature to which famous writers and photographers have contributed – and that are important historical sources on the changing landscapes and narratives of our spaces. IN THE LOOP

A NEW ARCHIVE & PORTAL FOR THE INDUSTRIAL HISTORY OF VENICE

Two important places, physical and virtual, will preserve the industrial history of Venice:

firstly, the Federation of metallurgical workers - FIOM CGIL of Venice, has opened its archives at the historic headquarters of the FIOM in Marghera, via Fincati 1. The collections, made available thanks to the collaboration with the IVESER (Venetian Institute for the history of the Resistance and of contemporary society), focus on the battles of the FIOM in favour of Venetian factory workers, including the the crisis in the metalworking industry of Porto Marghera, as well as the evolution of the industrial and economic models established in the rest of the province. The renovated headquarters, dedicated to the memory of the Venetian historian Cesco Chinello, and to the workers' lawyer Emanuele Battain, will become a place for political debates, training, and historical research on Labour movements. For more information on access: fiom.venezia@veneto.cgil.it

Secondly, the IVESER has created the online portal www.fontimarghera100.it, an online guide to the archival sources of the history of Porto Marghera. Porto Marghera is one of the most important in the history of the Italian industrial history, created in 1917 by the nobleman Giuseppe Volpi at the beginning of the 20th century, and a fundamental presence in the economic, social, and cultural history of Venice, of the Veneto area, and of the entire country.
